As Dublin was to be the first large city of the United Kingdom o be so furnished there was eager compe ition among American manufacturers to secure the order. The best advertisement American manu-facturers could possibly have is what Mr. Murphy said of his success in this country on his arrival home. His words go out to he world telling how vastly superior are goods of American make, and how far below ther countries are American prices. Of the

"We our chased machinery of various kinds at an expenditure approaching 1150,000, and at about two-thirds of what we had estimated the cost would be six months ago. Moreover by our personal contact with the manu facturers, we believe we have done better by from £20,000 to £30,000 than we should have been able to do with English manufacturers or by correspondence with American mixing facturers. We have further the satisfaction of knowing that we have been able to place our contracts at these low prices with firm of the very highest reputation in the United States. We are, therefore, as you may sup-pose, thoroughly satisfied with the result of our visit and feel amply regaid for our time.
"With regard to the electric traction system, we found it has extended everywhere • 7:50 am and now prevails in American cities to the • 7:55 am almost exclusion of horses, and the system bin is also becoming rapidly extended for subur-bin ban and interurban communication. In some cases electric lines connect outlying towns hirty and forty miles away, with some o the large cities. "We expect to spend from £250,000 to £300, 00 on the conversion of the horse tramways into electric tramways and if we obtain the sowers for extension, which are shortly coming before the privy council, we shall spend about £100,000 more. The capital for the scheme has already been provided. We are working immediately on the extension of the electric lines from Haddington road to Nelson's Pillar, and from Arnesley Bridge to Nelson's Pillar, the Clontarf line being al-ready equipped. We have power enough in our present stations to work those lines. We shall build a new central station, from which the whole of the tramways will ultimately be operated, and as fast as the materials can come forward from America we shall equip the whole of the city. I expect that within less than eighteen months from this date (October 9) there will not be in the city of Dublin a tramcar drawn by horses.

Another point of value in the ram drill lies in the fact, as the executive officer observed, that it is one more thing done according to orders and with a purpose. As such it strengthens the general morale. A promis-cuous tumbling, on the other band, such as would ensue if the men tried to stand during the collision, would certainly not have this effect. The ram drill is practiced on only a few ships of the navy.

CLEARING THE DECKS In an engagement the decks are cleared of everything which is not absolutely necessary as fighting material. Such articles, which in-clude chests and all superfluous woodwork, whether at sea or in port there is no lack of daily work for the crews of the big season and all superfluous woodwork, even the lifeboats in the davits, are all in-dicated by the word "Overboard" painted upon them.
